

International cooperation - Stronger together!

Hydravlon-1 has indicated a significant development in its relationships with the Greek „Adams Hydraulics”. The agreements between the two companies provides for mutual assistance and representation on the territory of the two countries and the region. The cooperation has allowed the company access to multiple warehouses around the world, which maintain a rich variety of hydraulic components for ship equipment such as pumps, motors, repair kits, submersible tank pumps, winches, tanks, etc.

Hydravlon-1 provides servicing and repair of marine hydraulic equipment in the region of the Black Sea ports of Varna, Bourgas, Constanta and others. The two companies already have done together several projects, including repairs on Deck Cranes, Steering gear, Mooring/Anchor Winches, etc., as well as replacements of Hydraulic Hoses. The established international collaboration is a key step in the development of the company and it’s positioning in new markets abroad.

On the other hand, the diversity of products on stock for Hydravlon-1 means a lot more flexibility in the offered hydraulic solutions and a significantly faster response when delivering hydraulic components and spare parts.

By combining their long years of experience in offering specialized solutions for Hydraulic Systems within the Bulgarian and Greek markets, together both companies will be able to provide technical support on a wider scale and benefit from each-other’s know-how, fortifying and strengthening their leading positions.
